ABOUT ME

A passionate communicator who seeks to use the world wide web to make the world a better place. As an avid lifelong learner, I not only hold degrees but also certifications from the Analytics Academy and HootSuite. I am looking forward to expanding my knowledge base further by diving into cloud computing and data analytics and exploring their possible applications for furthering an organization's positive missions. I am a firm believer in constantly striving to be my best self and find great joy in being creative.
